Role/Service: ISL interpreters for Open House Dublin Festival

The Open House Dublin Festival celebrates architecture and opens up the city's buildings to the public. With Covid-19 protocols, a smaller number of buildings will be open, and tickets must be booked in advance.

Open House Dublin 2021 is seeking to model as accessible a festival as possible, with a range of accommodations being developed and put in place for both our online and in-person events. Our in-person events include building tours, talks, debates, walking tours etc.

The Irish Architecture Foundation wishes to recruit the services of a number of experienced and qualified (hearing) ISL interpreters (paid) to be available to drop in to locations where interpretation is required to support in-person tour guides and other activities.

Role/Service specification

- This role/service will provide ISL interpretation at large to events taking place over Open House weekend. These will include but are not limited to debates, film screenings, guided indoor and outdoor tours.
